

YOU'RE INVITED
to make a stop-motion animation video!

Wednesday 21 & 28 June 3-5 PM
Carnegie Library of Homestead

What's this about?

Activist Emma Goldman (1869–1940) said: "I want freedom, the right to self-expression, everybody's right to beautiful, radiant things." You will use everyday objects to create an animation and take home a copy of your video! This FREE workshop will meet on 2 consecutive Wednesdays during Girls Club, lasting longer than usual.

What you should do before you arrive:

Please bring objects to use in your animations. These could include small knick-knacks, colorful paper, string, ribbons, and other materials with interesting textures and shapes that might be sitting in your junk drawer. Register at 412.983.8758 or dancedancerevolutionary@gmail.com

What is stop-motion animation?

For more information, check out our website at dancedancerevolutionary.org/radiant.html